Anthropology 433

ANDEAN ARCHAEOLOGY

Spring 2018

Professor Clark L. Erickson

PROFESSOR:

Dr. Clark Erickson 435 Penn Museum cerickso@sas.upenn.edu 215-898-2282

DESCRIPTION: ANTH 433: Andean Archaeology (Cross-listed as Latin American and Latino Studies 433)

This course provides a basic survey of the prehistory of civilizations in the Central Andean Region of South America (the central highland and coastal areas that today are Peru and Bolivia and parts of Ecuador, Chile, and Argentina). Topics include the history of South American archaeology, peopling of the continent, origins and evolution of agriculture, early village life, ceremonial and domestic architecture, prehistoric art and symbolism, Andean cosmology and astronomy, indigenous technology, the historical ecology of landscapes, outside contacts and relationships, economics and trade, social and political structure, state formation and urbanism, and early contacts with Europeans. The lectures and readings are based on recent archaeological investigations and interpretations combined with appropriate analogy from ethnohistory and ethnography. The prehistory of the Amazonian lowlands and "the intermediate area" of northern South America will be covered in other courses.

Slides and several films are used to illustrate concepts and sites presented in lecture. I generally do not stop the lecture to spell terminology, although periodically you will be provided handouts with lists of important terminology. Questions and comments are encouraged and may be asked before, during, or after lectures. I will also make use of artifacts from the extensive South American collections of the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology (Penn Museum).in class and/or in the collection rooms of the Penn Museum instead of in our regular classroom. Grading is based on 2 exams, a short object research paper, and class participation in discussions of readings.

CLASS MEETINGS: Tuesdays and Thursdays 1:30 - 3:00pm, Room 345, Penn Museum. On certain days, we will meet in the collections rooms of the Penn Museum to view and study Andean artifacts.

OFFICE HOURS: Thursdays 3:00 - 5:00pm. I will be available during office hours and after class if you have any questions regarding the course material, the department's program in anthropology, or archaeology in general. You can also see me by appointment if office hours conflict with your schedule.

ANTHROPOLOGY 433 ONLINE: A Canvas website for this course can be found at www.library.upenn.edu/courseware/ click on ANTH 433: Andean Archaeology after signing in with your PennKey. This homepage will include on-line versions of the course description, syllabus, readings, handouts, updates on reading assignments and lectures, recent news items on native Andean peoples, announcements about on-campus seminars and lectures related to the seminar topics, and links to web sites about native peoples. I recommend saving the address as a "bookmark" and regularly checking the site for new and updated information.

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK: I encourage you to order a copy of the textbook from Amazon, Barnes and Noble, or similar online bookstore. I will place the first textbook readings online as PDF to read before your copy arrives.

Quilter, Jeffrey

2014 The Ancient Central Andes. Routledge, New York.

REQUIRED READINGS:

With the exception of the Quilter textbook, the required and optional readings for Anthropology 433: Andean Archaeology will be available as PDF format files on the Blackboard Course Website.

MAPS & IMAGERY:

Google Earth Pro© (3D digital world maps at high resolution). Download and install the free version of software program on your computer to use for finding and viewing Andean archaeological sites from space and on the ground. You can download the free software and find information about the program at http://earth.google.com/

Bing Maps© (Digital world maps at high resolution). You can view this imagery online at https://www.bing.com/maps (click Aerial box on the upper right corner for color satellite imagery).

PREREQUISITES:

Because this is a 400-level course for undergraduates and graduate students, a basic understanding of anthropological concepts and terms, especially those of socio-cultural anthropology and archaeology, is required. All readings will be in English and knowledge of Spanish is not necessary (although reading ability in Spanish may be useful for readings pertaining to the object study).

REQUIRED READINGS:

The required readings come from the Quilter textbook and important articles and chapters about Andean Archaeology (see the Detailed Syllabus below for reading schedule). The non-textbook required readings are available as PDF files on the Blackboard (Courseweb) site for ANTH 433 in the folder "Course Documents" (with subfolders arranged by date). You are expected to do the readings before the class meeting.

https://courseweb.library.upenn.edu/

GRADING:

Grades will be based on 2 exams (a 1½ hour midterm and a 2 hour final) and a short writing assignment (30% midterm exam, 30% final exam, 30% written assignment, and 10% participation in discussions of the readings).

Examinations: The exams cover material presented in the lecture, readings, slide presentations, artifact presentations, tours of the collections, and films/videos. The exams are primarily long and short essay questions, with some brief identifications and definitions and map identifications. The final exam will not be cumulative, that is, it will only cover material presented after the midterm exam, although you will have to be familiar with the concepts and terminology presented earlier in the semester. We will schedule a short review/questions session before each exam if necessary. Please note that the Midterm Exam is on Thursday, March 11, 2018 (in class; 1:30 - 3:00pm) and the Final Exam is on Friday, December 14, 2018 (12:00pm - 2:00pm in our regular classroom).

Written Assignment: Each student will be assigned an archaeological object(s) from the collections of the American Section of the Penn Museum and responsible for writing a short paper (10 pages) describing, analyzing, and interpreting the object(s). The papers will be edited and published on a website about Andean artifacts at the Penn Museum. We will discuss the writing assignment in detail and deadlines later in the semester.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Students should be familiar with and respect the Academic Code of Integrity of the University of Pennsylvania. Any cheating or plagiarism in this course will be dealt with severely. Please see the Penn websites below for definitions of what constitutes plagiarism and cheating and how to avoid them:
